What's in a name? and "Whatever Became of Sin?"

Among William Shakespeare's contributions to English literature, there are literally thousands of memorable lines that continue to be quoted because of their eloquence and timeless significance. One of these is the famous line, "What's in a name? That which we call a rose, by any other name would smell as sweet" (Romeo and Juliet, act 2, sc.2, l.43). I would paraphrase it, what's in a name? That which we call sin, by any other name would still be sin! There appears to be a tendency in contemporary society to disregard or minimise sin, or to call it by another name. Similarly, there is a tendency to ignore or rename evil. The sense of shame regarding sin has been renamed and the so-called "guilt complex" has become public enemy number one. In today's readings, the Lord God in Genesis, St. Paul, and Jesus all call sin a sin. (Patricia Sanchez)

Modern "liberal-minded" people may find the genuine Christians' belief in and practice of Christ's ideas and ideals "just plain crazy!" Hence, what is needed in a Christian is the courage of his or her convictions based on the authority of Jesus as God and the truth of his doctrines and expressed in the Magisterium of the Church.

Let us remember that by Baptism we become the children of God, brothers and sisters of Jesus, and members of the Heavenly family of the Triune God. Hence, let us observe our obligations of treating others with love and respect and of sharing our love with them in corporal and spiritual works of mercy. We are also His disciples, and so are obliged to be hearers as well as doers of the word of God. Let us keep our souls daily cleansed and filled with the Spirit of God, leaving no space for the evil spirit to enter our souls.

ON PASSING A GRAVEYARD

*May perpetual light shine upon
The faces of all who rest here
May the lives they lived
Unfold further in spirit
May all their past travail
Find ease in the kindness of clay
May the remembering earth
Mind every memory they brought
May the rains from heaven
Fall gently upon them
May the wildflowers and grasses
Whisper their wishes into light
May we reverence the village of presence
In the stillness of this silent field*
