Superhero from Birmingham, Alabama

The story of Austine Perine from Birmingham, Alabama would give you chills. The four-year-old African American boy was watching Animal Planet with his father when a mother Panda abandons her cub and walks away. Austin's dad remarks that the cub would become homeless. Austin was moved with pity for the cub when he learns from the dad that being homeless means not having a home to stay and not receiving the care of a dad and mom. On a later date, Austin's dad, TJ Perine, takes him to a homeless shelter in the city at Austin's request to see what it means to be homeless. When Austin saw people looking hungry and tired, he asked his dad if they could give them Burger King chicken sandwiches. His father was not prepared for that, but he couldn't but responded to Austin's recommendation to feed the homeless. After that, Austin requested that the parents convert the money for his toys to buying chicken sandwiches for the homeless. Every week, the superhero who is also known as "President Austin," would dress up in a blue top and pants with a red cape and visit the homeless to hand them food and would always say to them "remember to show love." Soon he became phenomenal in the city and later in the country, and the Austins started getting support from people and organisations including $1,000 monthly allowance from Burger King to feed the homeless every week.

This week's Scripture readings invite us to surrender our lives to God with a humble and generous heart, by serving others lovingly and sacrificially. It is the self-giving in the gift or the heart and the sacrifice behind it or the love and concern involved in it which God counts, for God counts the inner motives and hidden intentions of our gifts and how it "costs" us.

*In Times of Sorrow
May you see God's light on the path ahead
When the road you walk is dark.
May you always hear,
Even in your hour of sorrow,
The gentle singing of the lark.
When times are hard,
may hardness
Never turn your heart to stone,
May you always remember
When the shadows fall,
You do not walk alone.*
